GERMANY OFFERS TO PAY ALLIED DEBTS TO U. S.

Proposal Contained in Reparations Note to U. S., Berlin Information.

REPLY IN WASHINGTON

Second Note on Problem Laid Before Cabinet. Contents Not Discussed. French Proceed With Plans for Occupation of Ruhr Region May 1.

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 26.—Germany, "in the event the United States and the Allies so desire, is willing, according to the extent of her ability and capacity, to assume the Allied obligations to the United States," says a clause in her counter proposal, it was definitely learned here today.

With this exception the counter proposal forwarded to Washington, including the offer of 200,000,000 gold marks, are virtually as forecast yesterday.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Germany's counter proposals regarding reparations were received today at the State Department and are understood to have been laid before the cabinet at its regular meeting.

Just before the cabinet met an announcement was made at the State Department that the memorandum from Berlin had been received during the night "in fragments" and was then under consideration by Secretary Hughes.

PARIS, April 26.—Premier Briand told the chamber of deputies this afternoon that "if on May 1 satisfactory proposals with acceptable guarantees are not made by the German government the Ruhr will be occupied."

PARIS, April 26.—The possibility of applying penalties to Germany immediately after May 1, despite winter proposals, she may take regarding restrictions in general, is being seriously considered, according to well-informed French circles today. Such action would be because of the German refusal to transfer on 1,000,000,000 gold marks to the Rhine and on the basis of the equivalent of that sum as demanded by the reparations commission. It is held in French official circles that the failure of the Germans to pay the balance of the 20,000,000,000 gold marks due May 1 under the provisions of article 236 of the treaty of Versailles is entirely independent of the negotiations regarding the sum total of the reparations. The money eventually pay. The twenty billion, unpaid, justifies the application of penalties according to this theory, whatever course may be taken regarding the fixing of the total amount.

BERLIN, April 26.—An arbitration proposal by Germany for determining the total amount due from her on reparations is contained in the reparations note forwarded to Washington. A clause of this note says, "Germany suggests the appointment of an unbiased commission to fix the total sum of her war reparations which she pledged to accept as binding and to carry out in good faith."

Sewer Lines Authorized.
Council last night authorized the purchasing agent to advertise for bids for 400 feet of eight-inch sewer for Woodlawn avenue and 120 feet for Newberry avenue, at Chestnut street.

General Hospital Movement Again Is Launched By Solons

Another movement looking toward a general hospital for Connellsville was launched Monday evening when Mrs. Howard H. Myers, member of the Woman's Culture club, was delegated by the mayor as the chairman of a committee to inquire into the steps necessary to the accomplishment of this end. Mrs. Myers was clothed with power to name the remainder of the committee.

Organization of a hospital association of 500 to 1,000 persons to back the project was suggested by Councilman C. W. Utts, who declared this to be the business-like method of procedure. "Let the Woman's Culture club head the movement," said Dr. Utts. "Then when we have a strong association formed, go to the state."

Dr. Utts took the view that it would be a waste of time to attempt to secure a hospital on the state aid plan and provision has been made here for financing it, something after the plan adopted in Uniontown and other places where hospitals are under local control and are liberally aided by state appropriations.

The need of an institution to take the place of the Optique State hospital was further discussed.

Postmaster Appointee Will Not Be Selected Until After Civil Service Test Has Been Applied

Notwithstanding the reputed "tips," rumors and more or less positive declarations by some people who claim to have "inside information" that the appointee for the postmaster of Connellsville has been decided upon, authentic information from Washington is to the effect that all such so-called information is entirely erroneous. No choice has been made nor will it be until the eligibility of the candidate has been determined by a civil service examination.

In a letter to the editor of The Courier Congressman S. A. Kendall, member of the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads, having charge of such matters, reads:

"Under the proclamation issued by President Wilson no person can be considered for postmaster until he has first passed a civil service examination and his name has been placed on the list of eligibles for appointment. I called up the Civil Service Commission on Saturday and was informed that they had not as yet determined when to hold the examination for postmaster. Public notice will be posted announcing the date of the examination and the qualifications of the applicants. After the examination has been held the Civil Service Commission will then certify to the Post Office Department the names of the applicants who pass the examination. From the list of eligibles they will be selected the postmaster."

In view of the foregoing, and the fact that the only postmaster thus far appointed by the new administration have been for fourth-class offices, indicates that the policy has been decided upon in Washington of applying the civil service test as a means of determining the fitness of applicants for appointments in first, second and third-class offices.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 88 degrees.

REV. SCOTT IS READY TO FACE THE MAYOR

No Backing Down on Part of U. S. Minister in Matter of Charges.

Pursuant to a request of the mayor, city council Monday night passed a resolution asking that Rev. Francis J. Scott, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, appear before council Friday evening at 7 o'clock and "substantiate" charges made in a sermon Sunday evening that the mayor "is not proud of the city's finances" and "other allegations relative to failure of the executive to enforce the laws as they should be. The resolution also cites 'Courtesy officials' to appear by reason of publication in Monday's issue of the statements made by the pastor.

Rev. Scott was out of the city, having gone to Pittsburgh on an early train, but friends of the pastor said he was ready to appear and back up his assertions of fact with regard to the enforcement of the laws on the part of the mayor will fail, it was indicated. It is also expected there will be a representative gathering of people of the city.

FACTORY GIRLS SCARCE

West Side Silk Plant Unable to Secure Enough For Expansion.

Shortage of girl employees is handicapping operations at the plant of the Connellsville Silk company, it was said today. Were enough available for the day shift, more boys would be added to the night force. Business has been increasing steadily in the silk industry, it was said.

J. J. Robson Ill.
J. J. Robson, the well-known West Penn motorman on the South Connellsville line, has gone to Pittsburgh to consult a specialist. He accompanied his son, Richard, and his daughter, Mrs. W. B. Raulin, and son, William, of Pittsburgh, who spent Sunday at the Robson home in South Eighth street, Greenwood. Mr. Robson has been off duty for over a week on account of illness.

Mrs. Sealk Injured.

Shipley's Arm Better.
Patroness Charles Shipley, who has been off duty for some time with a badly poisoned arm, is recovering. For several days, however, it was a question whether or not the arm would have to be amputated.

BRITISH RAILWAY MEN TO REFUSE TO TRANSPORT COAL

Latest Movement on Part of Miners' Sympathizers Official One.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 26.—The National Union of Railway Men has instructed its members not to handle coal from colliery sidings or from overruns. Sir Eric Geddes, minister of transportation, announced today in the house of commons, he characterized the order as a grave step.

Such coal, the minister said, was absolutely necessary to the life of the community as it was needed to provide a minimum for household use and to continue the essential public utilities.

To prevent the delivery of such coal, Sir Eric declared, was an attempt to starve the nation, and no government could allow the nation to be so coerced. Sir Eric stated that he had invited the general secretary of the National Union of Railway Men to meet him this afternoon and he hoped for good results from the meeting.

SKELETON OF MAN FOUND IN WOODS IN FERGUSON HOLLOW

The skeleton of a man, the identity unknown, was discovered Monday evening at the head of Ferguson hollow, between Dunbar and Mount Braddock, by members of the families of John W. Hardy and William Matkins who were searching for cows. Every vestige of flesh was gone.

A high grade hat lay nearby. The footprints were engraved in good quality shoes, with rubber heels. The suit worn was of check material and good quality.

There was nothing in the pockets to indicate the identity of the man.

The hair was described as "sandy." The case was reported to Colonel S. H. Baum and Funeral Director J. T. Burdick, of Dunbar, was called to take charge of the skeleton.

How Whereabouts of Our Fleet, After it Left Guantanamo Bay, Feb. 3, 1917, Were Kept Secret

ARTICLE 12.

Everybody in Santiago knew that the Atlantic fleet, under Admiral Henry T. Mayo, was engaged in target practice and maneuvers in Guantanamo Bay. The battleships could be seen easily enough from the hills, and the sound of their guns could be heard in the city.

That is to say everybody knew the fleet was there on February 3, 1917. On February 5 few knew where it was. The Atlantic fleet had vanished. From that time on, until the war ended, the Atlantic fleet and all other ships of the United States navy moved with a mystery and a sensitiveness which was designed to keep the enemy guessing.

All the world knows now that the British fleet had two main rendezvous—one at Scapa Flow, in the Orkney Islands, and the other in the Firth of Forth, on the east coast of Scotland. These two squadrons on service in the North sea war zone shared with the British.

Few Know the Secret.
But the secret rendezvous of the Atlantic fleet are known to few persons outside the navy. We never spoke of them by name at Washington, while the war lasted. "Base 1" and "Base 2" were the official and sufficient designations. Possibly the Germans learned where they were; if so, the knowledge did them little good. These picket rendezvous were chosen because

Members of Council Indicate Willingness to Bear Expense Of Equipping New Playgrounds

Municipal financial aid for the playground movement in Connellsville was asked of council Monday night by Mrs. Howard H. Myers, representing the Woman's Culture club, and promised. Mrs. Myers asked for a thousand dollars for equipment, saying that the culture club will bear the remainder of the total estimated expense of $4,500. The city budget for the year carries an appropriation of $500. It was the sense of council that this should be used and if possible the remainder of the amount sought provided. Before any further action is taken figures of the cost of equipment, which the culture club asks that the city buy, will be secured. Mrs. Myers was asked to supply this information during the week.

The playground organization plans the opening of three new places of amusement, in the North End, the West Side and the South Side. The plan will be to equip each with four swings, two safety see-saws, a slide and a sand box and baseball and bats. At the suggestion of Councilman C. W. Utts provision may be made for volleyball. Some of the equipment can be made here.

Supervision of the playgrounds will cost $2,500 for the 10-week period, beginning June 10 and ending August 23, which the culture club plans to have the playgrounds open. Mrs. Myers said, J. P. Rupp of the high school faculty, Mrs. Myers told council, has been discussed as the probable supervisor, his salary to be $200 a month. Teachers of the public schools will be employed at $25 a week and a number of the high school students at lesser salaries.

Tentative selections for sites for the new playgrounds are the lot adjacent to Fayette Field, for the North End, two lots of Mrs. Sarah B. Cochran, near the South Side school building, and lots across the street from the Crawford school building for the West Side.

Patterson Avenue Paving Ordinance Adopted By Council

The ordinance for the improvement of Patterson avenue from Arch street, to Isabelle road was adopted in council Monday night and the purchasing agent was instructed to advertise for bids to be submitted to council on May 23. Concrete is to be included in the specifications, along with brick, which was named in the petition.

City Clerk H. G. Mason was instructed to serve notice on about 150 property owners in the city to make repairs to sidewalks or lay new ones in a resolution introduced by Councilman B. L. Berg. The list was made up by F. C. Conway who was asked to make the rounds of the city.

The mayor proposed a visit by himself and Councilman Berg to Niagara Falls, Kingston and other places where wildlife is used for street resurfacing but no action was taken. There were no additional developments in the proposed resurfacing of Crawford avenue.

Automobiles Loaned For Transportation Of K. of C. Delegates

At a meeting of the reception committee for the state convention of Knights of Columbus in May it developed through the generosity of local citizens, 108 automobiles have so far been offered for the service of the visiting delegates and friends during the convention. This will facilitate greatly the handling of the large numbers expected to be present, particularly the transportation of delegates, to and from the various assembly halls. The following compose the committee, P. J. Harrigan, chairman; A. J. Wild, P. J. Tormay, T. B. Donnelly, W. F. Solson, V. H. Solson, J. J. Dougherty, J. L. Lowmy, A. Punari and J. J. Brady.

Headquarters will be established at the Knights of Columbus club rooms in the Solson theatre building and arrangements have been made to place information bureaus at the various depots so that all visitors may be properly cared for promptly on arrival. The committee plans a number of other features that will leave a lasting impression of the hospitality of Connellsville to its convention guests.

DEPOSED OFFICIAL IS FORCIBLY BARRED FROM INTERFERING

Seven Sergeants-at-Arms Prevent Return to Vacated Chair.

By Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, April 26.—Pennsylvania's House of Representatives, adjourned by Speaker Spangler at midnight, on a call for the order of the day organized a new session soon after and bills which had been the cause of a preliminary battle for more than a week were taken out and passed on two readings in an hour.

For stirring scenes and rapidity of action the proceedings of the lower house established a record in legislative history. It was 22 years ago that a similar affair took place and by an odd coincidence John T. Parr of Scranton, who was the speaker, was at the capital.

Members who last night elected Representative Whitaker, Chester, as speaker pro tem, after Spangler had adjourned the House, met today at 10 o'clock and declared the speakership vacant. "There were some scattering 'noes' but no organized effort to oppose was made. Whitaker, who was presiding, was then elected. Representative Dittich, Allegheny, who made all the motions, declared it necessary for the conduct of the business of the General Assembly to elect a speaker. Friends of Spangler for the most part out of the hall. A roll call was taken on the motion to declare the speakership vacant. On the call of the roll for election Clerk Clark Garvin announced 121 votes for Whitaker and one for Spangler. A number of members simply answered present when their names were called. President Judge Hardest, a gubernatorial appointee of the bench of Dauphin county, administered the oath to Whitaker. The result of the election was carried at once to Spangler who was in his office downstairs. He was in conference with about 40 of his supporters and declined to discuss the situation.

The House proceeded with routine business after Whitaker's election. The House then quieted down and although there was a big audience strict order was maintained.

Shortly before 11 o'clock the Spangler adherents began to gather. Promptly at 11 Spangler appeared in the House and attempted to take the chair. Seven sergeants-at-arms sprang in front of him. "I demand my right as speaker," said he to Whitaker.

The sergeants-at-arms thrust him back and after retreating a few steps he again approached the rostrum only to be shoved back.

The York member turned away with flushed face and demanded the right of speaker. Whitaker said under the action of the House a new speaker had been elected and was in the chair. "I demand the right to speak as a personal privilege," said Spangler. A chorus of "noes" and hisses followed but Whitaker recognized him at once and several times admonished members to be quiet. Several over-zealous members attempted to call names but were ordered to be silent. Spangler made a dramatic appeal to the members, charging attempts had been made to "bully him from the other end of the capital." He declared he had always endeavored to be fair and had stood for the rights of the House. Several times he was vigorously applauded, especially when he shouted that as a result of the action of the last 24 hours Republican institutions were at stake in Pennsylvania.

Spangler closed by saying that he would rather go out of the Legislature altogether than to be told by outside influences what to do in the House. He was vigorously cheered when he ended.

Whitaker went right ahead with business. Hess, Lancaster, secured the floor, moving to expunge everything from 12:15 last night, in this morning. Dittich opposed the motion and once when he said the proceedings had been regular and the doors had been open last night there were yells of "No, no; they were not."

The general appropriation bill carrying a total of $55,000,000 was passed finally, 143 votes being cast for the measure. There were no opposing votes.

Sergeants-at-arms were instructed at the end of the session not to permit Spangler to take the chair and it he resisted to turn him over to the state police. It was said by Harry S. McDavit that state policemen had not been summoned from barracks. Spangler attempted to take the chair.

SCOTSDALE, April 26—On Friday evening when Miss Evelyn Pabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pabel of North Scottdale, was returning home from the Mount Pleasant institute where she is assistant piano teacher, she was thrown from a main line West Penn car and is unable to use her right arm. It is alleged that the conductor was in the front of the car with the motorman and that the car was started before Miss Pabel had time to get off and that she struck her right shoulder and arm against the car. The crew in charge of the car kept on going, not knowing whether the passenger had alighted safely or not. It was said. Local physicians are said to fear that Miss Pabel may never have the proper use of her hand and arm.

"RUMORESQUE"—Based on Fanny Hurst's great story, which opened yesterday at this theatre for a three-day attraction, is a story of real life, faithfully portrayed. It has an intense appeal to the heart equalled by few works of literature and fewer stage productions. Last night's audience was alternately moved to laughter and something closely akin to tears. The picture has the humor of Potash and Perlmutter, and the pathos of "The Music Master." Alma Rubens is seen in the leading role. TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 26, 1921.

THE PEOPLE DO RULE.

The people of Pennsylvania must themselves elect a new House of Representatives, aided by the support of legislators who have a proper pride in the state, which last night redeemed the state from the threatened discredit of having a disgruntled minority in the Legislature block the proceedings of that body and force its adjournment with the most important measures smothered in committee.

The hold unfairly secured and attempted to be held by Speaker Spangler was broken, he hastily fled from the scene of his discomfiture leaving the majority of the members to reorganize the House, elect a chairman pro tem and proceed with the business of the session. The Speaker, Spangler, had been compelled by forces outside the membership of the House to obstruct the proceedings of the committee, then passed on first and second readings. These measures will be on third reading and final passage today, unless the administration leaders wish to make their special orders of business, which they may do at their leisure.

As a result of the courageous action taken last night, following the defection of Speaker Spangler and his handful of malcontents, there will now be no occasion to prolong the session beyond the time fixed for adjournment in order to assure the passage of Governor Sproul's program of progressive legislation.

THE WEST PENN. CLARION MERGER.

The prospect that the merger of the Clarion electric power project with the West Penn will be approved by the Public Service Commission is not without interest in this section, notwithstanding the remoteness of the former from Connelville. The combination will bring under one system of control quite the largest undertaking of the kind in Pennsylvania. It will provide the West Penn with franchises giving it rights for the distribution of electric power over an area extending almost across the western end of the state from north to south.

If this combination becomes an established fact, as seems certain, and another project of the West Penn interests—the completion of the Cheat river hydro-electric plant—is consummated, one of the most extensive systems of power generation and distribution in the United States will be established with Connelville as the center.

That such a development should take place in western Pennsylvania is but the natural order and proof of the forethought of the men who have planned for the future. In this workshop of the world there is a demand for electric power which is prodigious in the aggregate and it is constantly growing. With the natural resources of mountain streams and the deposits of coal available for the generation of power, the creation of a vast system of distribution will merely be supplying a public need.

The nucleus of the West Penn system having been at Connelville, the first City of Fayette will lose nothing by such an expansion as is apparently within the range of possibilities. No matter what proportions the West Penn may assume, or how widely its service may be extended, Connelville will still retain its importance as a power center for the whole region just as the generating units on other parts of the West Penn system will become centers for the sections within the radius of economical distribution therefrom. With each additional station feeding into the general system the regularity and constancy of the service will be more certainly assured. As a large consumer of power the Connelville region will therefore follow the progress of the movement toward a consolidation with interest.

It is beginning to appear that a little more preparation by France for its movement in force into Germany is all that is needed to boost the reparations offer a few more millions.

As Speaker Spangler can bear testimony, filibusters frequently have the same kind of experience as other persons who handle weapons they didn't know were loaded.

A Fair
Proposition

Every article of food carried in a Union Supply Company meat market has been purchased only after a careful investigation in regard to its quality by competent buyers who specialize in this work. Having met the high quality standards required, price is another matter considered. A very conservative profit is added. In this way we are enabled to offer the utmost in quality at unusually low prices.

Are you as careful and as particular as this in selecting the meats, butter, eggs, cheese, etc., for your table? If quality and price are considered in your purchasing we urge a comparison or a trial of our meat market lines,—after which we will be perfectly willing to abide by your decision.

applies to battery
ills, too!

Get that examination NOW

IN spite of the old proverb, it is sometimes too late to mend. When plates are buckled and terminals are corroded through neglect or unusually hard service, there is little left for the battery-man to say but "New battery". Don't let it get that far. Drive around today to the Prest-O-Lite Service Station and have a thorough examination made. Some trifling fault may be uncovered now that may result disastrously if not remedied. Anyhow, find out. That's what Prest-O-Lite Service Stations are for. You will get courteous treatment and, what is even more important, honest advice. When you do need a new battery, you'll be glad to know that Prest-O-Lite is back to pre-war prices and that an allowance will be made on your old battery. Get that examination now.

"Medium" alone doesn't mean Quality any more than flour-water-and-lard means pie"

THE man who uses "medium" oil wants the best he can buy.

"Medium" alone doesn't mean QUALITY—and that is the vital governing factor in motor oil efficiency.

"Medium" alone carries no assurance that the oil will retain enough of its "body," or viscosity, to insure proper lubrication under the terrific heat of the motor in action.

"Atlantic Medium" does!

Only the most scientific skill, the widest experience and the most ample facilities can develop motor oil quality to the highest degree.

SINCE you buy lubrication principally on faith, there is one sure road to quality—of getting "medium" oil that remains medium: Ask definitely—insistently!—for

Atlantic Medium

Atlantic Medium—made by a pioneer refining concern that has always taken the lead in the development of automotive lubrication—carries the positive assertion that it is right.

It is the finest guarantee of health you can give your motor—that highly developed piece of mechanism upon which your motor-car satisfaction ultimately centers.

Special to the Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 26.—Frank Santoro, five years old, of 601 Washington street, had both of his legs broken when he was caught in the wheel of the Wood Dairy company's wagon on Sunday morning. It was said that he had been hanging on for some time.

No Carnival Permits. Burgess, S. P. Stevens has notified a carnival company which applied for a permit to show here that none will be issued. The burgess said he felt that at a time of industrial depression a carnival would be a detriment to the town.

Alumni Banquet Discussed. A meeting of the alumni of the Mount Pleasant Institute was held in the brickfoot building last evening. Plans were discussed for a banquet to be held during the commencement week. Further arrangements will be made at a meeting to be held in the brickfoot building Thursday evening, April 28, at which time all former graduates will be asked to be present. This school is well represented in this neighborhood and there should be a good turnout.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"CURTAIN"—A splendid picture, providing for Katherine MacDonald, known as the American Beauty of the screen, one of the best vehicles in which she has ever appeared, is today's feature attraction. Infinite pains have been taken in every detail of the settings of the picture, especially in the large ensembles, of audiences within and without the theatre and behind the screen. "Curtain" stands out as one of the best pictures ever produced on the screen. Miss MacDonald meets the demands of her part with a measure of forest charm. The whole performance is one of undoubted sincerity and qualified beauty, a fine entertainment. There has never been a picture made that discloses such intimate knowledge of the stage. In "Curtain" Katherine MacDonald's latest picture, this subject is most convincingly handled by the author. Miss MacDonald is a delightful favorite and the toast of the town, is married to a man of wealth after a whirlwind courtship. At the height of her domestic happiness, Nancy discovers her husband in a compromising position with an actress who has succeeded her as star in Coghlan's company. Her husband pleads for another chance, and for the sake of his child, Nancy decides to give it to him. Later her husband

NERVE FORCE IS LIFE FORCE

The Nerve System Is One of the Most Important Systems of the Whole Body, and Has a Direct Connection With Every Vital Organ. If Your Nerve System Is Deranged, and Your Nerve Force Low, Your Whole Constitution Suffers. Watch Your Nerves.

The entire system can be compared to a delicate piece of machinery, and must be given care the same as you would give to your automobile. Throughout the body running series of nerves, and in different parts of the body nerve centers are located. This nervous system can be likened to a telephone system, the brain being the main office, which controls the working of the entire system, and the various nerve centers throughout the body being sub-stations, which are in contact. If any part of this nervous system becomes deranged, through ravages of sickness or from a constant strain of every day life, the entire body suffers. Nerve force flows constantly throughout the entire nervous system, and each vital organ is directly connected with and dependent upon these nerve centers, and a full supply of nerve force. Your vitality, your digestion and general health all require a certain amount of nerve force. When your nerve force is low, your system is quick to show the results. Don't let yourself become run down, for Nerv-Worth will quickly rectify these conditions, and help your system throughout. It gives sound restful sleep, and invigorates the entire nervous system, and while doing this, it aids the digestive system, the assimilation of food and tones and invigorates your whole body building you up and strengthening you. If you don't feel just exactly right, or suffer from any nervous or stomach disorder, get a bottle of Nerv-Worth today, and give it a trial, and if you don't say it has helped you after you have taken your first bottle, your money will be refunded—Adv.

departs on what is ostensibly a business trip to the Far West. In reality he takes the other woman to the races at Tia Juana. An entirely satisfactory finale occurs, but not until some impressive revelations on this great question have been presented. Tomorrow and Thursday "A Splendid Evening" will be presented.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"KISMET"—Otha Skinner's famous play, now screen masterpiece, with actor as star, is the feature attraction today at this theatre. The screen version of "Kismet" has been aptly called a cinema miracle because not only does it show the greatest actor of the country in the greatest play of the decade, but because in its production have been combined the finest workmanship, artistry and intelligence obtainable in the motion picture world. The picture is a poem in color, as well as an epic of the new form of dramatic expression. Its production cost ran well over $500,000. The filming of "Kismet" is also noteworthy because of the fact that in it Mr. Skinner makes his screen debut, a step he would not have taken had it not been for his desire to immortalize this great play. After refusing the offers of various producing concerns, Mr. Skinner consented to preserve the marvellous artistry of his role as Hal, the beggar for all time, when the Robertson-Cole company promised to produce the play for the screen with even greater beauty and splendor than marked its stage production which played to crowded houses in the United States and Europe for years. Mr. Skinner himself appeared continuously in the play for more than three years. His screen performance marks his last appearance in his justly famous role.

Wednesday and Thursday "One Man in a Million" will be presented.

Was In Bed Three Days.

This Lower Price Demonstration is a practical demonstration of the money saving possibilities of the Cash Policy. Without losing money and without lowering quality, we are selling lower because we sell for cash. The prices which will appear in tomorrow's Adv. are not simply specials for a day or a few hours; but they are our regular cash prices for this merchandise while it lasts, and we expect to constantly sell everything lower on the average than the dual cash and credit stores.

When you pay cash in the dual cash and credit stores you are paying a credit price that helps to carry the credit customer. Our new Strictly Cash policy takes the credit expense out of prices and puts the cost of clothing, dry goods and necessities upon the lowest plane of economy.

Why have credit and pay more? Why help to carry the credit customer? Why expect the cash customer to carry you? Why not pay cash and pay less?

OUGH VALLEY OUTFIT WILL OPEN SEASON ON SATURDAY WITH TROTTER

Y. M. C. A. Grounds at Dickerson Run Are in First Class Shape For Playing.

INTEREST IS PICKING UP

Saturday, April 30, will mark the opening of the ball season for the Ough Valley Independents. It was announced today by F. A. Tarr, the manager of the team. On that date the Trotter team will be the attraction at the Dickerson Run Y. M. C. A. grounds.

The valley team has been on the field three nights a week for the past month and this week the candidates will be out every night, weather permitting. Trotter has also been practicing fast shape and a real battle will mark the opener.

A big crowd is expected to attend the contest. Trotter has always had a strong outfit and a big following of fans. The Valley Independents are an entirely new aggregation but Frank Tarr's ability to get the best men possible is known and he will have no trouble organizing.

Either Bope or Timcheck will pitch the opener for the Dawson clan. Mayes will probably be on the receiving end. The game will be called at 4:15 o'clock.

Arrangements have been made for the use of lockers and showers in the Y. M. C. A. building for the best accommodations. The grand stand has been fitted up and the road to the grounds put in fine condition. The grounds have been leased for the entire season.

Mr. Tarr, accompanied by Pitcher Bope, was in the city yesterday and stopped into The Courier office for a short chat. "I wonder if the Independents are going to have a team that can give the Ough Valley team a good game?" was Mr. Tarr's first question. He expects the clash between the Cokers and his team to be the biggest event of the local season.

According to the dope we get, and what is being whispered through the circles of fandom, the Coker Independents are going to be "Some" team this year.

The candidates for the team of the Y. M. C. A. class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school will practice at Fayette street tonight.

A number of fans have raised the question of starting a church league this year. Nothing has been heard to date, matter any momentum yet, however.

It is announced that Johnny Donnelly, of Newark, N. J., and Uniontown, and Ray Pryel have been matched for 10 rounds in the Irish benefit show to be staged at Motor Square Garden, Pittsburgh on May 4. Local fans are wondering how Donnelly gets into after the poor exhibition he put on in this city when Frank Phillips of McKeesport outclassed him.

MOUNT PLEASANT PLAYER BANGS OUT THREE HOME RUNS

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 26.—The American, Czechoslovak baseball team on Saturday defeated Keystone 10 to 2 by a score of 10 to 2. Mike Kankorak of the local team shows promise of being a regular Babe Ruth, batting out three home runs during the game. On Wednesday at the Frick Park the Czechoslovaks will play the Chippewa club of Greensburg and on Saturday will have a return game with Keystone at the park here.

Frank Zelma, the manager, has a few open dates and would like to hear from good teams.

STATE OFFERS REWARD

Will Be Paid to Persons Fettering Out

HARRISBURG, April 26.—Gifford Pinchot, the state chief forester, has announced that the reward of $250 offered by the Department of Forestry for information leading to the arrest and conviction of incendiaries starting forest fires will be paid to any person except foresters, rangers and others employed by the department on a full-time basis. Forest fire wardens, temporary laborers and others temporarily employed by the hour or day are included among those eligible for the reward.

DEAR LADIES

Just a Word About the Best Place for Your Jewelry.

The best place to keep your jewels, if you want the second-story man to get them, is in your bureau drawer, but the best place to keep them if you wish them to be absolutely safe, is in an individual box in the strong Safe Deposit Vault of the First National Bank, of Connellsville. STRAIGHTEN THAT BENT BACK

No need to suffer from that tired dead ache in your back, that lameness, those distressing urinary disorders. Connellsville people have found how to get relief. Ask your neighbor. Follow this Connellsville resident's example.

Mrs. W. Bowers, 134 North Third street, says: "I think the world and all of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have used them for years whenever I have had an attack of kidney trouble. Last winter an attack of influenza put my kidneys in a very weak condition. They became disordered and acted too frequently. My back ached constantly and I also suffered from headaches and spells of dizziness. Black spots also blurred my sight. I was weak and run down at these times, but on taking Doan's Kidney Pills I would be greatly benefited. I got this medicine at the Connellsville Drug Co." Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bowers had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

How Strange Things Sometimes Happen

"I want to write you to let you know that I have taken two more doses of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and have gained 10 pounds in the last two weeks, although I am thinner around the waist than before, because the bloating in my stomach has all gone and I am feeling like a boy again. There never was anything in this world half as good as this medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. A. A. Clarke and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

TWO.

"Has it struck you fellows," remarked Hugh, at the conclusion of lunch, "that seated around this table are four officers who fought with some distinction and much discomfort in the recent historic struggle?"

"How beautifully you put it, old buck!" said Darrell.

"Has it further struck you fellows," continued Hugh, "that last night we were done down, trampled on, and for mugs by a crowd of dirty blackguards composed largely of the drags of the universe?"

"A veritable Solomon," said Algy, looking at him admiringly through his glasses, "I told you this morning I defeated your friends."

"Has it still further struck you," went on Hugh, a trifle grimly, "that we aren't standing for it? I propose that we should tackle the blighters tonight?"

"Tonight?" echoed Darrell. "Where?"

"At the Elms, of course. That's where the wretched Potts is for a certainty."

"And how do you propose that we should get about it?" demanded Sinclair.

Drummond drained his port and grinned gently.

"By stealth, dear old beans—by stealth. You—and I thought we might take in Ted Jerningham, and perhaps Jerry Seymour, to join the happy throng—will make a demonstration in force, with the idea of drawing off the enemy, thereby leaving the coast clear for me to explore the house for the unfortunate Potts. An accident. . . . A car. . . .

What is the connecting-link. . . . Why, drink. Write it down, Algy, or you might forget. Now, can you beat that?"

"We might have some chance," said Darrell kindly, "if we had the slightest idea what you were talking about."

"Pay attention, all of you," said Hugh. "Tonight some time about ten of the clock, Algy's motor will proceed along the Goddaming-Gulldford road. It will contain you three—also Ted and Jerry Seymour. If we can catch 'em. On approaching the gate of The Elms, you will render the night hideous with your vocal efforts. Stray passers-by will think that you are all right. Then will come the dramatic moment, when, with a heavy crash, you ram the gate. Horrified at this wanton damage to property, you will leave the car and proceed in mass formation up the drive."

"Still giving tongue?" queried Darrell.

"Still giving tongue. Either Ted or Jerry or both of 'em will approach the house and inform the owner in heartbroken accents that they have damaged his gate post. You three will remain in the garden—you might be recognized. Then it will be up to you. You'll have several men all round you. Keep 'em occupied—somehow. They won't hurt you; they'll only be concerned with seeing that you don't go where you're not wanted. The last thing they want to do is to draw any suspicion on themselves—and, on the face of it, you are merely a few convivial wanderers who have looked on the wine when it was red. I think," he added thoughtfully, "that an audience will be enough for me."

"What will you be doing?" said Algy.

"I shall be looking for Potts. Don't worry about me. I'll look after myself. Now, is that clear?"

"Perfectly," said Darrell, after a short silence. "But I don't know that I like it, Hugh. It seems to me, old man, that you're running an unnecessary lot of risk."

"Got any alternative?" demanded Drummond.

"If we're all going down," said Darrell, "why not stick together and rush the house in a gang?"

"No go, old bean," said Hugh, decisively. "Too many of 'em to hope to pull it off. No, low cunning is the only thing that's got an earthly chance of succeeding. With a grin he rose, and then stropped toward the door. "Now you and Potts in Ted and Jerry, and for the love of Heaven don't ram the wrong gate."

"What are you going to do yourself?" demanded Potts suspiciously.

"I'm going to look at her from inside. Go away, all of you, and don't listen outside the telephone box."

THREE.

Hugh stopped his car at Gulldford station and, lighting a cigarette, looked at his watch a dozen times in five minutes. He threw away his smoke before it was half smoked. In fact, he manifested every symptom usually displayed by the male of the species when awaiting the arrival of the opposite sex. Over the telephone he had arranged that she should come by train from Goddaming to confer with him on a matter of great importance; she had said she would, but what was it? He, having no suitable answer ready, had made a loud buzzing noise indicative of a telephone exchange in pain, and then rung off. And now he was waiting, in that peculiar condition of mind, which reveals itself outwardly in hands that are rather too warm, and feet that are rather too cold.

"When is this dally train likely to arrive?" He needed a phlegmatic official, who regarded him coldly, and doubted the likelihood of its being more than a quarter of an hour early.

At length it was signaled, and Hugh got back into his car. Feverishly he scanned the faces of the passengers as they came out into the street, until, with a sudden quick jump of his heart, he saw her, cool and fresh, coming toward him with a faint smile on her lips.

"What is this very important matter you want to talk to me about?" she demanded, as he assisted her into his car.

"I'll tell you when we get out on the Hog's Back," he said slipping in his clutch. "It's absolutely vital."

He stole a glance at her, but she was looking straight in front of her, and her face seemed expressionless.

"You must stand a long way off when you do," she said sternly. "At least if it's the same thing as you told me over the phone."

Hugh grinned sheepishly.

"The exchange went wrong," he remarked at length. "Astonishing how rotten the telephones are in town these days."

"Quite remarkable," she returned. "I thought you weren't feeling very well or something. Of course, if it was the exchange."

"They sort of buzz and blow, don't you know," he explained helpfully.

She found herself lying in his arms, with Hugh's eyes looking very tenderly into her own and a whimsical grin around his mouth.

"That must be most fearfully jolly for them," she agreed. And there was silence for the next two miles. Once or twice he looked at her out of the corner of his eye, taking in every detail of the sweet profile so near to him. Except for their first meeting at the Carlton, it was the only time he had ever had her completely to himself, and Hugh was determined to make the most of it. He felt as if he could go on driving for ever, just he and she alone. It was then that the girl turned and looked at him. The car swerved dangerously.

"Let's stop," she said, with the suspicion of a smile. "Then you can tell me."

Hugh drew into the side of the road, and switched off the engine. "You're not fat," he remarked, and the girl saw his hand trembling a little as he touched the door. She gave no sign. He came and stood beside her, and his right arm lay along the seat just behind her shoulders.

"Tell me about this important thing," she said a little nervously.

He smiled, and no woman yet born could see Hugh Drummond smile without smiling too.

"You darling!" he whispered, under his breath—"you adorable darling!" His arm closed around her, and, almost before she realized it, she felt his lips on hers. For a moment she sat motionless, while the wonder of it surged over her, and the sky seemed more gloriously blue, and the woods a richer green. Then, with a little gasp, she pushed him away.

"You mustn't," she said, "oh! you mustn't," Hugh, she whispered, "And why not, little girl?" he said excitedly. "Don't you know I love you?" His face was still very close to hers. "Well?"

"Well, what?" she murmured.

"It's your turn," he whispered. "I love you, Phyllis—just love you."

"But it's only two or three days since we met," she said feebly.

"And what the devil has that got to do with it, at all?" he demanded.

"Would I be waiting longer to decide such an obvious fact? Tell me," he went on, and she felt his arm round her again forcing her to look at him

"Tell me, don't you care . . . a little?"

"What's the use?" She still struggled, but, even to her, it wasn't very convincing. "We've got other things to do."

And when this very determined young man settled matters in his usual straightforward fashion, she felt herself lifted bodily out of the car as if she had been a child; she found herself lying in his arms, with Hugh's eyes looking very tenderly into her own, and a whimsical grin around his mouth.

"Care now here," he remarked, "with great regularity, I know you'd hate to be discovered in this position."

"Wouldn't?" she whispered. "I wonder."

She felt his heart pound madly against her; and with a sudden quick movement she put forth her arms round his neck and kissed him on the mouth.

"Is that good enough?" she asked, very low; and just for a few moments, time stood still. . . . Then, very gently, he put her back in the car.

"I suppose," he remarked resignedly, "that we had better descend to reality. We've had lots of fun and games since I last saw you a year or two ago."

"Idiot boy," she said happily. "It was yesterday morning."

"The interruption is considered trivial. Mere facts don't count when it's you and me." There was a further interlude of uncertain duration, followed rapidly by another because the first was so nice.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Tells Safe, Simple Way to Treat and Relieve at Home.

If you have catarrhal, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist one ounce of Eucalypti (Eucalypti Extract). Take this home and add to it one-fourth pint of hot water and a little crystallized sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headache, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and other dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this artificial treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.—Adv.

For a Severe Cold.

"Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured my daughter Anna of a severe cold and cough a few years ago and ever since then I have never missed an opportunity to recommend this medicine to anyone suffering from throat or lung troubles. I cannot speak too highly in praise of it," writes Mrs. D. J. Shalley, Earlville, N. Y. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy contains no narcotics and may be given to children with perfect confidence. It is a pleasant syrup so they do not object to taking it.—Adv.

State Expects to Grow 15,000,000 Trees This Spring

Special to The Courier.

HARRISBURG, April 26.—The Pennsylvania Department of Forestry expects to grow about 15,000,000 trees for reforesting 10,000 acres of waste land in this state from the seed it is planting in its forest tree nurseries this spring. All of the seeds will be sowed by May 1.

The department has collected 700 pounds of white pine, hemlock and black locust seed and 250 bushels of black walnuts, acorns and ash and maple seeds. Six hundred and sixty pounds of pine, spruce and larch seed have been purchased.

Ohiopyle.

OHIOPYLE, April 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wolfe spent Saturday calling on Connelville friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hammer spent the week-end the guests of relatives at McKeesport.

Mrs. J. H. Palmer and daughter are spending the week here with relatives, Mr. Arthur Holmes and Mrs. Homer Viola and Alvestra, and Mrs. Homer and daughter, Jeannette, of Pittsburg spent Saturday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Hamilton.

E. J. Wolfe was a Connelville business caller Saturday evening.

Frank Shuckhart has returned to Frostburg, Md., after a few days spent here.

John Holt, Jr., and O. M. Waters, who are employed at Dawson, spent Saturday and Sunday at their homes here.

Moses Burnworth visited his daughter, Mary, at a patient at the Cottage State hospital, Connelville, on Saturday.

AH! EPSOM SALT LIKE LEMONADE

You can now buy epsom salts without the awful taste and nausea, by asking your druggist for a handy package of "Epsomade Salt" which looks and acts exactly like epsom salts, because it is real epsom salts combined with fruit derivative salts, giving it the taste of sparkling lemonade.

Take a tablespoonful in a glass of cold water whenever you feel bilious, headache or constipated. "Epsomade Salt" is the much talked of discovery of the American Epsom Association.—Adv.

'SWEAR OFF' TOBACCO

"Swear Off" has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whenever you have a longing for a cigarette, cigar, pipe, or for a chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead, in help relieve that awful desire. Shortly the habit may be completely broken, and you are better off mentally, physically, financially. It's so easy, so simple. Get a box of No-To-Bac and if it doesn't release you from all craving for tobacco in any form druggists will refund your money without question.—Adv.

Relieves Rheumatic Pains. "I am subject to rheumatism and when I have a spell of it one or two applications of Chamberlain's Liniment relieves the pain and makes rest and sleep possible. I would not think of doing without it," writes Mrs. C. Wesley, Moberly, Mo.—Adv.

WHEREABOUTS OF FLEET A CLOSELY GUARDED SECRET

place all communications on a war basis.

"At 10:15 that night he received the 'admiral availability' order and the various force commanders began work at once on their reports, showing the condition of every vessel and its readiness for war. These reports were submitted to Admiral Mayo the next day, and transmitted immediately to the navy department.

Naturally, enough, knowing what had happened in Washington, and receiving the mobilization and availability orders, Admiral Mayo's mind turned to what should be the next step.

Guantanamo bay was exposed and easily accessible. Everybody knew that the Atlantic fleet was there. Germany knew it.

No place to linger.

Guantanamo bay was no place to linger.

In Washington we reached the same conclusion at the same time.

The old adage, about a parallelism of thought between great intellects may apply. Or perhaps you believe in telepathy and prefer the theory that Mayo's mind or Benson's beat the wireless, and sent its suggestion to the mind of the other without using any mechanical medium.

Whatever the explanation the fact is that Admiral Mayo sent a dispatch to Washington at 3:30 on the afternoon of February 4, 1917, which was received by a dispatch from Admiral William S. Benson, in the navy department, to Admiral Mayo.

And the two dispatches proposed the shifting of the fleet to a new and secret rendezvous—and named the same rendezvous.

Here is the message sent by Admiral Mayo from the flagship Pensacola to the navy department:

"Unless instructions are received to the contrary, propose to shift fleet base to Gulf of Guacanayabo, after spotting practice February 5; then proceed with schedule of all gunnery exercises."

The message from Admiral Benson to Admiral Mayo which was dispatched from Washington a few minutes later than that from the flagship, but before its arrival, read as follows:

"Position of fleet well known to everybody. If considered advisable on account of submarines, shift base to Gulf of Guacanayabo or elsewhere at discretion. Inform department confidentially."

Ask the average man where or what Guacanayabo is and you will have him guessing.

Take a large scale map of Cuba and look at the southern coast of the island. Between Santa Cruz del Sur and Cape Cruz you will find a sizeable body of water, extending in a sort of semicircle for some 70 miles. It is about 15 miles across at the widest part. This is the Gulf of Guacanayabo.

Long before it had been thoroughly surveyed by our own hydrographic office, and the survey was ascertained that there was ample depth of water for the biggest ships. The main channel had been carefully sounded and marked out by buoys. We had used it for years for special maneuvers. We knew how to get in, and how to get out again when we wanted to; but the great consideration was that once in we could close the door, and nobody else could get in without running extraordinary dangers.

Across the mouth of the gulf are many small islands and perilous shoals. When the main channel was closed against intruders, only a navigator thoroughly familiar with the intricate turning, and varying depths of the other channels, could afford to venture an attempt to enter. The chances were heavily against any U-boat coming through while submerged—and a U-boat that failed to submerge we could take care of. Aeroplanes made a complete reconnaissance of the gulf and adjacent water twice every day, while picket boats guarded all channels, and destroyers patrolled the waters outside the gulf from Cape Cruz to Lavaca-bank.

Safe as Jewels in a Vault.

When Admiral Mayo had placed his ships in this landlocked harbor, had shut the door and turned the key, they were as safe as any lady's jewels in a safety deposit vault.

There the fleet continued its work, going out to sea for battle practice and long-range gunnery in the daytime, and returning at night to conduct night firing with secondary batteries, torpedo attack and other exercises. There was even room in the gulf to carry on torpedo firing and defense at 10,000 yards distance. Guacanayabo was safe enough, but

Johnstown Woman Feels Just Fine Since Taking Tanlac and Has Such Good Appetite She Even Eats Between Meals.

"I just hate to think of all the suffering I had to go through before I got Tanlac, and I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for the good the medicine has done me," declared Mrs. May Nancarrow, of Maple avenue, Johnstown, Pa.

"Indigestion and dyspepsia nearly worried the life out of me and at times my sufferings were almost unbearable. My appetite was so poor I ate little or nothing, and I suffered terribly from gas pains, headaches, dizziness and other ailments that go with a bad case of stomach trouble. I was so nervous I could scarcely sleep, and I was so weak and run-down and in such wretched health that my friends all noticed how I was falling.

It was a lucky day for me that I started taking Tanlac, for the medicine has given me such a splendid appetite I even eat between meals now, and I never feel a sign of indigestion or dyspepsia. My sleep is sound and refreshing and I'm enjoying the very best of health. I'm certainly grateful to Tanlac for ridding me of my troubles when nothing else would help me and I think it's a medicine well worth anybody's trial."—Adv.

In case of hostilities we wanted our fleet nearer home, so a few days before war was declared it in a home base even more inaccessible to the enemy.

Before this final base was determined for the Atlantic fleet, however, it was moved from Guacanayabo to Hampton roads. The order to steam north was given March 21, 1917.

Ready for Submarine.

The possibility of submarine attack on this voyage was clearly recognized, and instructions were given that for the greater safety of the fleet the larger battleships and destroyers should proceed at maximum speed via Carol channel, while the train, mine force and old battleships—all slower vessels—should go in company via the Crooked Island passage.

The dreadnaughts and destroyers reached Hampton roads at 9:30 o'clock on the morning of March 27. The slower ships arrived three days later.

Hampton roads was a most convenient and desirable base in many ways, but it was too well known and too much exposed. We brought Admiral Mayo to Washington, and the whole matter was discussed. Charts were examined and a new base selected, to which the admiral was given orders to shift the fleet.

On the very day on which President Wilson delivered his war message to Congress the fleet sailed from Hampton roads for its new rendezvous.

This was "base 2." Throughout the war it was never called anything else. In conversation and dispatches it remained thus mysteriously designated. The newspapers were requested if they should chance to discover where the fleet was quartered to keep it as profound a secret as the Navy Department had tried to make it.

Keep Navy's Secret.

Necessarily persons residing in the neighborhood of the base became aware of the presence of the battleships, but for the most part, like good Americans, they held their tongues. It was months before there was any general knowledge of where the fleet spent its days during those early weeks of the war.

"Base 2" was one of the most historic spots in America—Yorktown, Va. Throughout the war our battleships were almost in sight of the place where Cornwallis surrendered to George Washington.

The York river affords a wonderful harbor, with water deep enough for the largest battleships and spacious enough for a whole fleet to ride at anchor. With defenses at the entrance to Chesapeake bay, and nets and patrols across York river, no submarine could ever hope to penetrate this safe haven.

Not There to Hide.

It should not be supposed that the fleet went into York river either to rest, or to hide. Far from it. During the entire war there were few busier places in the United States than this base. Every ship was carrying on its own training day and night—training gunners, engineers, firemen, deck officers and crews, armed guards for merchant vessels, men of every rank and rating to man transports, destroyers, patrol craft and all the many vessels put into European and transatlantic service.

In addition to new men in their own crews, the battleships trained more than 45,000 officers and men for service in other vessels.

Every man from Admiral Mayo to the stokers, wanted to get into action. Not a man in the navy but knew in his heart it would be all over with the Germans if only they would give the Atlantic fleet a chance.

The Germans, probably, knew it too, for the chance was never given. This was the navy's undying regret. Admiral Beatty expressed the feeling when, in his farewell address to Admiral Rodman on the departure of our battleships from the grand fleet, he said: "I know quite well that you, as well as all of your British comrades, were bitterly disappointed at not being able to effect the efficiency that you have so well maintained."

Both countries pursued what naval officers considered the best possible course under the circumstances. Unquestionably the existence of these two great fleets, and the French and Italian forces, held the German fleet in check and compelled its eventual surrender. But personally I have little patience with the policy of depending on a "fleet in being." The policy of watching and waiting takes men of the navy, that produce Nelsons and Farragutes, John Paul Joneses, and Dewees, I neither blame the British admiral, nor excuse our own, but in my soul I believe that if commanders like Beatty, Mayo, Rodman and Wilson could have joined in a general assault by the forces of all the allies, we would have found some way to smash through and destroy the German fleet—in spite of hell and Heligoland.

Spring Suggestions in Dry Goods

The Stocking Question

—always resolves itself into three things, fit, comfort and wear. When fit is correct, style is assured and comfort, naturally, follows. As for wear, when long staple yarns of selected fibers are used, the texture is always supplemented by satisfactory wearing qualities and when, to these three good points, moderate price is added, as at Wright-Metzler company, our patrons always know any of their stocking questions and the correct answer here.

Hose for Women—Children—Infants—Silk—Cotton—Wool—Silk & Wool Complete Assortments Moderately Priced

One nice point of good dressing is found in the matching of one's shoes and hose.

—so our recent shipments of "Brown shoe shades" in history come just when they are being asked for most. Here are brown calf, Russian calf and Cordova silk hose with blue tops, pure thread silk hose and pure thread silk hose in lace effect, priced from $3 to $5 the pair.

Pink, dimpled knees must rise above the colorful tops of these children's socks to show them off.

The socks themselves may be white, as in the case of those marked 25c, 40c and 50c the pair, but if it is brown or blue that is wanted, they will be found at 60c the pair. All have gay colored tops just fine for showing the new garters—"Go-Prep" they are called—which come in plain and fancy styles and pink, blue and white at 20c, 35c and 50c the pair.

Check Gingham for Frock have no real rivals. They are so clean, cool-looking and easily laundered that mothers want them for their little girls and big girls buy them for themselves. Here they are in white with brown, black, and lavender, blue, pink and green checks and any number of plaids and color combinations at 45c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.25 the yard.

Soft tissue gingham, 75c and 85c the yard.

Novelty Spring Neckwear is more fascinating than ever with its many clever new styles. As a matter of fact, one never knows what will be next for here are collars of embroidered baste, hie and val lace in an exquisite combination on the one hand and red and white, lavender and white, brown and white gingham with organdie piping on the other.

Collars of lace and net in white and navy may be found at any price from 75c to $5.00.

Collars of organdie, lace trimmed and embroidered in colors are $1.25 to $3.50. The neat and novel gingham sets are $1.75.

Organdie and net vesties in white embroidered in dainty flowers, many lace trimmed, range in price from $1.50 to $4.50.

Snowy Napery Is Possible Once More at $3 the Yard

No matter how glad you may be to find such an excellent weight and bleach in 70-in. linens at this price, we were just so much happier, for we know how you all have been wanting good patterns at moderate price. Here you will now find two very attractive designs at $3.00 the yard.

Heavier bleached, pure flax, 70-in. linens, $3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00 and $7.00 the yard.

Lighter weight linens, $2.50 the yard.

No Wonder Everyone Is So Crazy About Roman Sashes

—did you ever see anything that added such a becoming touch to a costume, even though the suit or dress is past its first newness?

It is really surprising what beautiful ribbons in 8-in. widths are being shown in tangerine, Roman stripes, pink, light blue and yellow as well as broadened patterns at $1.00 to $2.00 the yard.

Light floral designs in fancy ribbons are found at 50c to $2.00 the yard.

One big lot of moire and plain silk ribbons, 6-in. wide in pink, rose, Harding blue, brown and black, 85c the yard.

The Vogue of Plaid Skirts was never greater, so these new styles and patterns come right at the time when they are most in demand and they have been included with all other plaid and checked skirts in this general reduction of 17 to 25%.

Regular prices $7.95 to $35.00

Sale prices $5.98 to $29.75
